

Remembering Joshua

*October 6, 1975
June 25, 1996*

This book is dedicated to my wife and Josh's mother, Bernie Beekman, to his sisters, Tracy and Jonica, and his brother Tim.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to acknowledge the following organizations and companies: The Corning Observer, The Redding Record Searchlight, The Eglin Eagle, The Washington Post, The Los Angeles Times, Nando.net, Reuter Information Service, The Air Force Times, The Army Times, Robert Dorr, The VFW Magazine, The Associated Press, The New York Post, and The United Press International for the news stories contained in this book.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge and thank a special friend, Fran Heiser who also lost a son in the Khobar Towers bombing, for her e-mails containing news stories about the investigation.

And lastly, I would also like to express my sincere thanks to Louis Freeh, Former Director of the FBI, for his diligent effort to find the Truth and to bring about Justice in the Khobar Towers Bombing Case without regard to the personal or political consequences.

George A. Beekman

Preface

This book is dedicated to the memory of Airman 1st Class Joshua Edward Woody and the 18 other airmen who lost their lives in the Khobar Towers Bombing.

This book contains memories and photos of the good times we shared with Josh, as friends and family as well as some of the news articles and memorials related to the bombing and its aftermath. Some of the news stories are about Josh and Corning High School Football, while other news stories are about the Khobar Towers bombing and the events that followed locally and nationally.

A special chapter is dedicated to Nineteen Heroes, victims of the Khobar Towers bombing.

After almost five years of frustration, an indictment was issued on June 23, 2001 naming 14 individuals and strongly pointing towards the nation of Iran.

George A. Beekman
